Who is your Idaho Home Builder?

Bill Davis Construction

When was your home completed?

December 2004

Construction Type?

Custom Home (Home designed from scratch)

Idaho Home Builder Recommendation?

We had Bill Davis Construction build a home for us in 1997 which we were very, very pleased with. When we decided to build another new home in 2004 we didn't even consider another builder. Bill Davis was extremely easy to work with. One thing that we found interesting was that in most cases we had the same plumbers, electricians, painters and other subcontractors on both homes. They all did quality work. When a home inspection was done on our first home when we sold it, the inspector could not find a single construction problem with the house. If we were to ever build another home we would once again have Bill Davis Construction build it for us.

Why should your builder be recognized for Construction Excellence

Bill Davis Construction should be recognized for Construction Excellence because of the high quality, fairly priced work that they do. They are truly a quality business and are a real pleasure to work with. We would, and have, recommend them to anyone considering buying or building a new home.
