Idaho Home Builder Recommendation?

We found Whitney Homes while touring model homes at the Bridgetower subdivision. After having looked at dozens of model homes and various floor plans offered by several different builders, the Whitney models jumped right out at us for what we wanted in our new house. We loved the open, well laid out floor plan with lots of windows for natural light, a spacious kitchen, large secondary bedrooms and a bonus room for our kids to have a playroom. Overall, the house we liked was very functional and casual with no wasted space, a perfect match for our family's lifestyle. Once we found our ideal house, we wanted to meet with the builder. Ron Whitney was very accommodating and helped us to see how the house floor plan could be even further tailored and customized to our specific tastes and needs. We never felt pressured and appreciated the way Ron explained things in a way that was easy to understand. After our first meeting with Ron we had no doubt that this home, and this builder, would be the right choice for us. We have had semi-custom homes built for us twice before (in different states) and were prepared for the same impersonal, assembly line style process that we had been subjected to before. We were so pleased to find the exact opposite with Whitney Homes! In all of our various design meetings with the Whitney Homes? team, we received individual attention and assistance with the many decisions and selections that go into designing a new house. We especially appreciated the patience and advice given on selections when we were indecisive or unsure on how to proceed (thanks Amy!!). The professionalism and customer service focus of Whitney Homes was further demonstrated through their selection of subcontractors. All of the subcontractors that we met with were timely, courteous and helpful. Our great experience with Whitney Homes continued through the actual construction of our house. With our prior home building experiences, once we were done with the impersonal design selection construction began and we didn't hear back from the builder until they were done building the house (the standard contract even forbade visiting the home site!). Again, Whitney Homes came through with a much better experience. We were able to be involved as much or as little as we wished during construction. We were always updated on the status of the home and met with them and their subcontractors at several points during the project to ensure that our expectations were being met. The Construction Supervisor, Joe Perdew, was always available to us and he treated our home as if he was building his own. His attention to detail, committed follow through and customer service gave us nothing but confidence that our house would be turn out just as we had envisioned it and with the utmost quality in every detail of the home. It has now been about a year since the home was finished and we have nothing but favorable memories of our building experience with Whitney Homes. We would highly recommend them to anyone looking for a builder that focuses on quality, craftsmanship, attention to detail and customer service. Whitney Homes and the Whitney family made our home building experience fantastic and we would absolutely build with them again!

Why should your builder be recognized for Construction Excellence

Whitney Homes gets the whole home building experience right! In all aspects of the process, from design to construction, they focused on making the home building process as painless and stress free as possible. They were very helpful and accommodating in making a floor plan that would work for our family's needs. They were patient as we waded through the numerous option and design decisions and always offered advice and guidance when we were stumped. They focused on every detail and emphasized quality and craftsmanship in every aspect of the construction of our home. They provided great customer service and demonstrated excellent follow through during the entire process. Overall, an excellent construction experience!

What is your favorite element or feature of your home?

My wife's favorite feature of the home is the pure functionality of the home and its floor plan. No wasted space yet no sense of being cramped or over crowded. My favorite feature of the house is the customized home theater. Whitney Homes (together with their subcontractor Home Theater & Automation) created a great theater space where we can watch movies and feel like we are in a real theater.

Tell us about your community

We chose to build in the Bridgetower community. We looked at several different subdivisions and found that many of them had small lots. After having just moved here from a state where lots are very small (and very pricey!) and where houses are jammed together with tiny little strips of land for back yards, we wanted more space in the house itself and in the lot size. Bridgetower offered large lots to give us that open space feel while still being close enough to neighbors to feel a sense of community. In addition, we liked the two community pools and the close proximity of schools for our kids.
